Section III. Application Narratives

Directions: Complete this information for the entire Innovation Program.

A. Program Needs

1. Describe how your agency determined the need for an Innovation Program.

Example: Student/Community survey; census data; student retention data; district data on facilities and TOPSpro data.*

Example: ESL Census data reflects a 20% increase in limited English speaking adults within the district boundaries. The district is unable to meet the demand for ESL classes due to limited classroom facilities.*

Madera Adult School's (MAS) Distance Learning Innovation Program is designed to reach adults in the community who are most in need of receiving English language instruction and improving literacy skills. The Innovation Project is being used to leverage our diminishing resources and provide students with additional enriching educational materials that complement our traditional classroom instruction. MAS continues to make every effort to provide educational opportunities within a rural geographical area consisting of high level poverty, illiteracy and unemployment. According to the California Department of Finance, Madera County was home to over 152,924 residents with 56,692 residents living within the City of Madera. This represents a 31.2% increase since 2000. The low income poverty level for the city of Madera represents 32.5% while the average for the whole state is 14.2%. The unemployment rate in the Madera County was 14.8 percent in June 2010, down from a revised 14.9 percent in May 2010, and above the year-ago estimate of 13.6 percent. The latest statistics provided by the City of Madera indicates 35.3% of the population 25 years and older do not have a high school diploma.

2. Identify the populations who will gain increased access to instruction through the Innovation Program. Estimate the number of students that will be served through this program.

Example: Working adults, individuals with transportation problems, parents with small children, adults with health limitations, safety concerns, will gain increased access. The school estimates that over 95 students will participate in the Innovation and Alternative Delivery Program courses.*

Innovation Program is being introduced to adults as a viable added resource by which the two instructional deliveries complement each other – the traditional classroom and working independently through distance learning. Innovation Program adults are identified as those who want to increase their instruction time in order to learn more by using distance learning as supplemental instruction. In addition, students also have the advantage of asking questions and acquire clarification from their classroom teacher. Madera Adult School estimates over 90 percent of English as Second Language students will participate in the Innovation Program and alternative delivery program courses. The school estimates that over 300 students will participate in the Innovation and Alternative Delivery Program courses.

B. Program Outreach and Recruitment

1. Describe how your agency will expand access to learning services. Include promotional materials, public relations, public service announcements (PSAs) in both English and other languages, collaborations with K-12, social service agencies, community-based organizations, etc. Indicate what, if any, activities are specific to a single program area rather than all program areas.

Example: All Innovation Programs will be advertised in: adult education course catalog, and public service announcements (PSAs) on both English and Spanish speaking radio stations.*

Example: Flyers for the Parent Education Program will be placed in public health agencies and district elementary schools.*

All Innovation Programs are featured in: MAS flyers, brochures, website, as well as our local newspapers (Madera Tribune, and Fresno Bee) and printed in English and Spanish as a means to provide outreach to our target population. All printed materials are either shared through electronic mail, personal delivery, or U.S. mail to all collaborating agencies such as First 5, Community Action Partnership, Madera County Vocational Occupational Center, Madera County Public Health Department, WIC, Madera County Behavioral Health, Madera Rescue Mission, Department of Social Services, Madera Chamber of Commerce, Darrin Camarena Health Clinics, City of Madera Housing Authority, Madera Access Point, Madera Beauty College, Madera County Probation Department, Parent Alternative Childcare Center, Madera County Library, City Parks and Community Services and Madera Head Start. In addition, information is distributed to local doctor's offices, medical centers, and various schools within the district. All ESL students are provided with Distance Learning Innovation Program information through a mandated orientation class prior to enrolling into their ESL program. All combined outreach efforts provide students and the general public to create awareness of the program and maximize our resources.

2. Describe the process for continuous program evaluation and improvement. Include program planning activities that address: ongoing needs assessment, student outcomes, and training and support activities for teachers, especially those that address teaching technology-based courses and interaction with students outside of a classroom-based setting.

Example: The staff meets on a weekly basis to review data, discuss program improvements, look for and resolve problems and share information. Each teacher prepares and submits a mid-year report which is presented and discussed by the entire staff. The reports include: updating the status of the entire program, highlights of the year, numbers of students attending, methods of student contact and assessment of progress for each class, format of the program and other relevant information.*

Example: Program evaluation is ongoing. Faculty and administrators meet 3 times per year or as needed. At these meetings, faculty and administrators coordinate the program, set goals, and review attendance patterns and assessment data. The Distance Learning Specialist works with the resource teachers, faculty, and database specialist to ensure accurate student records. Support activities for teachers include workshops, in-house training, and incentives for attending trainings and conferences related to the topic of alternative instructional delivery.*

Administration, Curriculum Specialist, and all Distance Learning Teachers meet monthly to determine the program goals and improvement strategies. An administrator, along with an assigned curriculum specialist, meets routinely to address the technical, instructional and administrative areas of concern. Teachers monitor the progress of his/her students through a managed enrollment system. Student demographic and contact information is recorded in the AIM database for attendance and registration. Staff, Curriculum Specialist, and Administration review progress reports that monitor student learning gains. Staff meetings are calendared on a monthly basis to discuss positive outcomes and/or concerns. Attendance reports and student data are reviewed regularly. Students who are not completing assignments or attending weekly classes are contacted by phone or mail to determine the reason(s) for nonparticipation in the program.

Note: WIA, Title II requires that distance learning students be pretested and post-tested using the same guidelines. CASAS designed pretests and post-tests so that most students are able to complete a test in one hour or less. CASAS recommends assessing after approximately 70-100 hours of instruction with some exceptions. See Assessment Policy Guidelines \(p. 7\).

Section IV. Reimbursement and Accountability

Students in this program must be regularly enrolled in order to be counted for apportionment.
